CBRN Treatment Pack

CBRN major incidents are a real threat throughout the world both from accidental release and terrorist incident. Planning and delivering the required capability requires the right kit for the task.

The CBRN Treatment Pack is specifically designed for the challenging CBRN major incident. It has evolved and developed from real experience and is focused on the simple, key interventions that a medically trained team are capable of while wearing full PPE.

Modular, robust and incredibly practical, this equipment is designed for a two-person medical team working in the Warm Zone to make an impact during the window of opportunity for the early triage and treatment of CBRN casualties.

The CBRN Treatment Pack has the capability to treat Nerve Agent & Cyanide casualties using Combopens, antidotes and intraosseous devices. Advanced airway management utilises a BVM with a CBRN canister attachment which allows you to ventilate clean air in a vapour/liquid hazard area.

Contained within the pack is a small amount of basic trauma equipment for initial trauma management. All contents are contained within a single pack which folds out for easy use and is made of a material that is wipeable for easy decontamination afterwards.
